LEADERSHIP TRAITS

- Research focused on identifying personal characteristics that differentiated leaders from non-leaders was unsuccessful.
- It proved impossible to identify a set of traits that would always differentiate a leader (the person) from a non-leader of influencing a group to achieve goals.

LEADERSHIP BEHAVIORS

Behavioral theories: leadership theories that identify behaviors that differentiate effective leaders from ineffective leaders

BEHAVIORAL THEORIES OF LEADERSHIP

Study	Behavioral Dimension	Conclusion
University of Iowa	Democratic style: involving subordinates, delegating authority, and encouraging participation Autocratic style: dictating work methods, centralizing decision making, and limiting participation Laissez-faire style: giving group freedom to make decisions and complete work	Democratic style of leadership was most effective, although later studies showed mixed results.
Ohio State	Consideration: being considerate of followers' ideas and feelings Initiating structure: structuring work and work relationships to meet job goals	High–high leader (high in consideration and high in initiating structure) achieved high subordinate performance and satisfaction, but not in all situations.
University of Michigan	Employee oriented: emphasized interpersonal relationships and taking care of employees' needs Production oriented: emphasized technical or task aspects of job	Employee-oriented leaders were associated with high group productivity and higher job satisfaction.
Managerial Grid	Concern for people: measured leader's concern for subordinates on a scale of 1 to 9 (low to high) Concern for production: measured leader's concern for getting job done on a scale of 1 to 9 (low to high)	Leaders performed best with a 9,9 style (high concern for production and high concern for people).

CONTINGENCY THEORIES

THE FIEDLER MODEL

- Fiedler contingency model: a leadership theory proposing that effective group performance depends on the proper match between a leader's style and the degree to which the situation allows the leader to control and influence
- Least-preferred coworker (LPC) questionnaire: a questionnaire that measures whether a leader is task or relationship oriented

FIEDLER'S SITUATIONAL CONTINGENCIES

- Leader–member relations: describes the degree of confidence, trust, and respect employees have for their leader
- Task structure: describes the degree to which job assignments are formalized and structured
- Position power: describes the degree of influence a leader has over activities such as hiring, firing, discipline, promotions, and salary increases

HERSEY AND BLANCHARD'S SITUATIONAL LEADERSHIP STYLE

Situational leadership theory (S L T): a leadership contingency theory that focuses on followers' readiness

Readiness: the extent to which people have the ability and willingness to accomplish a specific task

SLT LEADERSHIP STYLES

- Telling (high task–low relationship)
- Selling (high task–high relationship)
- Participating (low task–high relationship)
- Delegating (low task–low relationship)

FOUR STAGES OF FOLLOWER READINESS

- R1: both unable and unwilling
- R2: unable but willing
- R3: able but unwilling
- R4: both able and willing

PATH-GOAL MODEL

Path-goal theory: a leadership theory that says the leader's job is to assist followers in attaining their goals and to provide direction or support needed to ensure that their goals are compatible with the goals of the group or organization

FOUR LEADERSHIP BEHAVIORS

- Directive leader
- Supportive leader
- Participative leader
- Achievement-oriented leader

LEADER-MEMBER EXCHANGE (L M X) THEORY

- Leader-member exchange theory (L M X): the leadership theory that says leaders create in-groups and out-groups and those in the in-group will have higher performance ratings, less turnover, and greater job satisfaction

CHARISMATIC LEADERSHIP

- Charismatic leader: an enthusiastic, self-confident leader whose personality and actions influence people to behave in certain ways
- There continues to be a debate about whether charismatic leadership can be taught or whether people are born with charismatic leadership traits

TRANSFORMATIONAL/TRANSACTIONAL LEADERSHIP

- Transactional leaders: leaders who lead primarily by using social exchanges (or transactions)
- Transformational leaders: leaders who stimulate and inspire (transform) followers to achieve extraordinary outcomes

AUTHENTIC LEADERSHIP

Authentic leadership: leaders who know who they are, know what they believe in, and act on those values and beliefs openly and candidly

- Authentic leadership focuses on the moral aspects of being a leader. They possess four qualities which are;
 1. they are self-aware
 2. transparent
 3. they openly solicit views that challenge their deeply held positions
 4. they are guided by strong moral standards

ETHICAL LEADERSHIP

- An ethical leader puts public safety ahead of profits, holds culpable employees accountable, and creates a culture in which employees feel that they could and should do a better job
- Delta Airlines CEO Ed Bastion's actions during the COVID-19 pandemic are an example of ethical leadership

SERVANT LEADERSHIP

- Servant leaders go beyond their own self-interest and focus on helping followers grow and develop
- What's unique about servant leadership is that relative to other approaches to leadership, it puts the needs of followers ahead of attending to one's own needs
- Servant leadership may be more prevalent and effective in certain cultures such as Eastern Asian cultures

EMERGENT LEADERSHIP

- Emergent leadership occurs when the leader of a group or team naturally arises instead of being appointed
- Emergent leaders are those who are perceived by their peers as being leaderlike and accepted as the informal leader
- They lead at the team level, have not been formally appointed, and do not play a permanent role

FOLLOWERSHIP

- Followership: Leaders need good followers to be effective. Good follower traits are:
 - Ability to self manage
 - They have a strong commitment to purpose
 - Enthusiasm
 - They build competence
 - Courageous, honest, and credible

LEADERSHIP AND GENDER: SOME FIGURES

In the USA

- In 2023, 10.6% of Fortune 500 companies CEOs were women (Pew Research Center, 2023)
- Less than 1% are women of color
- In 2022, 30.4% of board members of these companies were women (Pew Research Center, 2023)

In Lebanon

- In 2019, women represented 29% of senior and middle management (World Bank, 2019)
- Data on women in leadership positions in the country remains scarce

GLASS PHENOMENA

From Glass Ceiling to Glass Cliff

FEMALE LEADERS AND PERFORMANCE

- Women are now seen as equally or more competent than men (Eagly et al., 2018)
- The presence of a female leader leads perceivers to anticipate fairer treatment (Joshi & Diekmann, 2021)
- The presence of a female CEO is positively related to firms' financial performance in gender egalitarian cultures (Hoobler et al., 2018)
- Gender diverse leadership teams are more effective at pursuing environmentally friendly strategies (Glass et al., 2016)

FEMALE LEADERS AND LEADERSHIP STYLE

- Female leaders demonstrate more transformational leadership style (Eagly et al., 1992) and democratic leadership style (Wu et al., 2021)
- These styles are congruent with their gender roles (Wu et al., 2021)
- When women adopt styles that are incongruent with their gender roles, they tend to be penalized (Wang et al., 2013)
